BELIEF IN THE BIBLE

Will Not Take Any Man Into Heaven.

HE MUST HAVE THE RIGHT FAITH

An Eloquent Sermon by Evangelist Naylor—It Was Based on the Fact That God Sent His Son Into the World to Redeem the World.

No decrease is shown in the attendance of the revival services being held in the Methodist Protestant church. Last evening the meeting seemed to be more interesting than that held on Wednesday evening.

When the evangelist came upon the pulpit the church held one of the largest audiences that has yet greeted him. The singing before the sermon was very good. Reverend Gametsfelder being in the audience, was called upon, and offered the opening prayer, after which Reverend Naylor sang one of his famous solos entitled, "Perseverance." The text of the evening was taken from St. John 3-16, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Reverend Naylor in part said:

"He spake and the silvery moon showed the weary traveler his way; He spake and the beautiful trees of the forests sprang forth; he spake and the birds began to sing, and the music was so beautiful that it has not as yet been equaled. It is my purpose to bring before you tonight and show what is beautiful. O how terribly sunken and depraved was man, but, wretched sinners, He came and gave His Son, His promise, His love, His life. Jesus saves. He gave Him in manifestation, heroes were cast into fire; but a third person came and delivered them. See, O see, the love of God for the human race. Your character may be as black as anything; you may be depraved, but, thanks be to God, He gave His only Son that all these might be saved; He gave all that you might be saved. He gave the most beautiful flower that ever blossomed in paradise; He gave the most beautiful star that ever shined; He gave all—the world—He gave his son, more beautiful by far than all of these. Man partook of the forbidden fruit, he broke the laws of God. But instead of punishing you by casting you in prison He offers you a castle. Oh! Is it not beautiful to think that he gave Jesus? My mind is most bankrupt to put into words the thoughts I have of that gift. My tongue cannot say enough to praise the gift of God's love. If you would undertake to write a book about the love of God you would start a task that is impossible to finish. It would take all the pens, ink and paper that was ever made and all that would be made in the future to complete the task, and then you would not have enough.

"It is the earnestness of His love that accomplishes all these wonderful things. Look at Calvary. Look at that cross. Look, I say, and is that not sorrowful enough? While all heaven is blackened, while the sun is hid from view, He charges His enemy, and He exhibits His victory, His triumph, His love, for the human race.

"But why this love, this sorrow, this mockery, this crown of thorns. Thanks be to God that whosoever—

"I like that word whosoever. I believe in it, and if you don't go to heaven, it is because you want to go to hell. Provision has been made for you above. Why won't you go? Thank God, all have an equal chance.

"What have I to believe?" you say. "You must believe in Christ, in the Bible, in the love of God for you. The worst men in the world believe in God and Bible, but belief in them won't save you. All the creeds and doctrines of the churches in the universe won't save you. I want to say to you that you can believe the Bible from cover to cover, but I want to tell you that in all God's world this will never save you. You may speak the Bible verbatim, saying catholicism, having creeds, dogmas and all that sort of thing, but at the same time you may be going at express speed to hell. We may get real mad if our church doctrines are attacked, are ready to defend them, but at the same time we may be the worst person in the church. You may give all your goods to the poor and be charitable and all that sort of thing, but if you have not the love of God in your soul you had better quit. But thank God for that word 'whosoever.'"

"How is the right way to believe?" I hear you ask. I don't want you to throw off your creeds, your dogmas, and so on; they are grand things, noble things. You go to heaven; you say, I am a Methodist, a Presbyterian, a Baptist, an Episcopalian, a Catholic, and think you will get in. You had better not go. Let me tell you, if you go there and say I am a Christian, a follower of Jesus Christ, words cannot express the joy and happiness you will receive. Depend on it, if all were Christians, the closing up of all saloons in the world would be a matter of ease.

Be willing to repent, to be baptized in the love of God, to renounce worldly sins, to ask forgiveness of your sins, and as soon as you are willing to believe in God and ask his forgiveness then I say you are on the way to bringing salvation to your soul, and not until then.

It is the believing and leaning on the promises of Christ, your Savior, that is to save you, and nothing else. Comply with these things, and do as you say, and believe in Him. Thanks be to God for this whosoever will. Oh what joy there is in heaven when one sinner repents. Have faith, faith, faith, in all things and you shall not perish. If He wanted you to perish He would never have given His son for you. You will never die, you will but sleep in Christ. That blessed sleep which is the gift of God.

"This is the end of the Christian. Are you one of these? If not, why not?" "Purity and Maturity" was the subject of an able lecture by the Reverend Naylor this afternoon in the Methodist Protestant church. This ended the afternoon meetings.

At 4 o'clock a sermon to children was preached, subject, "Old Mother Hubbard." It was a simple sermon of truths to boys and girls. The next sermon to children will be from that old rhyme, "Mary Had a Little Lamb." The date will be announced later.

JOSEPH F. MARSHALL.

He Is the Candidate Whom the Masses Desire.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—I like the ring of Joseph F. Marshall's announcement in the NEWS REVIEW of yesterday. I am a McKinley man, and have voted for him many times, whenever I had the chance. I know Joseph F. Marshall, and I believe him to be a truthful man, and I back him and will back him all the way through, as the firm, fast friend of President McKinley and his administration. I know Joseph F. Marshall, and I like him for his pluck and sand and nerve. He don't abuse anybody, and will stand by the nominee of the party, even if he be turned down himself by the voters, and his opponent be nominated for the position of state senator. I like Marshall because he believes in his right as an American citizen, and knows that he has a right to be a candidate for the suffrages of the voters, and maintains that right in the face of all opposition. I will vote for him because he is an honest man and represents clean politics. In conclusion, I know that he will receive a heavy vote in East Liverpool, as the working-men and mechanics of this city are intelligent men, and are also great lovers of fair play. REPUBLICAN POTTER.

A BIG SHIPMENT.

Thousands of Tons of Rails Went South Today.

The river at this point contains about 15 feet of water, and is rising four inches an hour. The Dave Wood and Iron Age passed down with large tows. Up, Dan Clark.

The Iron Age, with John Reno and James Morris at the wheel, and Capt. Wm. C. Gray on the roof, had 14 model barges of rails, containing in all 8,000 tons. This is an enormous tow. Hamilton Sheppard stated, in speaking about the Iron Age cargo, that it would take 320 trains of cars to transport the rails, figuring 25 tons to the train.

It would require 11 trains of cars with 30 cars to the train to haul his shipment out of Pittsburgh. The rails go to various points in the south. It is estimated that about 12,000 tons have been shipped by the river since the pool dropped. The Iron Age has also among its cargo 700 tons of splash boards.

BETHANY MUST HAVE MONEY.

Or It Will Be Moved to Some Southern Town.

The many persons of this city who have been students at Bethany college, or who have in some other manner been closely connected with the institution, will learn with regret that it may be moved from its beautiful location near Wellsburg. Unless some plan is devised whereby it can be cleared of debt and placed upon a sound financial footing, the famous institution will go to Hiram or Lexington, Ky. The college is 50 years old, and has turned out many men of national reputation.

EARTH BY THE TON

Slipped Off the Hill Near Brady's Run.

STREET RAILWAY BLOCKADED

No Cars on the Wellsville Side Cut Off Communication Between the Towns—A Track Built Around the Slip—Hard Work For Laborers.

A portion of the hillside at Walker slipped down on the street car track at some time early this morning, and all traffic between this city and Wellsville was suspended, while a force of laborers worked for hours to keep back the yellow flood.

The hill has been in a dangerous condition for some time, and it has been closely watched. Last night a small amount of earth came from the face of the hill near Brady run, and it was quickly cleared away. This morning when Motor-man Thomas sent his car up the hill he saw the track was covered with earth. There was nothing to do but notify the power house, and get out a force of workmen. This was done as soon as possible, and they set to work. Earth was still coming down, and the men had more than they could do to keep it back. At length it became apparent that the slide could not be cleaned away, and work was commenced laying a track around it. The track was covered with mud for a long distance.

The track was completed before noon, and cars were taken through. A number will be left on the other side of the slip. The mud continues to roll down. The hillside began moving at a rapid rate this afternoon and large rocks began to fall, so that it was dangerous for the force to work and they were laid off until tomorrow morning.

DOSED A PAIR.

Wicked Ironclad People Were Given Some Justice.

IRONDALE, March 5.—[Special]—Mrs. James Moore and Orin Taylor, who eloped from this place and were captured by Sheriff Gill at Washingtonville, were returned here for trial and given a hearing last night. They decided to tell Squire Paisley they were not guilty, but Mrs. Moore broke down and reversed her plea. She was fined $5 and costs, the whole amounting to $26.20. Before leaving town Mrs. Moore had some money, and the amount will be paid. Taylor, who is younger than the woman and boarded at her house, was given $50 and costs. When his account is squared he will have paid $71.45.

David Martin, aged 92 years, came here the other day to visit his daughter, Mrs. Alex Hanlin. Early in the week he was taken suddenly ill, and died last night. The remains were taken to his home in Eldersville, Pa., for interment. Mr. Martin, until his last illness, was in the best of health, and his friends believed he would live to see his century.

PRESIDENT AND GOVERNOR

Were Formally Congratulated by the McKinley Club.

The meeting of the McKinley club last night was well attended, and one of the best in many weeks. President E. W. Hill made a happy speech in which he congratulated the members upon being again under a Republican president, and that president the man they know so well and honor so much. It was decided to formally congratulate the president on his success, and Governor Bushnell upon the appointment of M. A. Hanna to the senate. D. J. Smith made a brief but interesting address on state finances. The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday evening when the reports of the officers will be heard, and officers for the coming term elected. The financial condition of the organization will be discussed. Two new members were admitted last night, one of them being Joseph F. Marshall, candidate for senator.

TWO NEW KILNS

Will Be Built at the Akron China Works at Once.

Thomas Worcester, president, and F. A. Wilcox, treasurer, of the Akron China company, are in the city. They came for the purpose of taking bids on the construction of two kilns that are to be added to the pottery at once. They are also in search of some good workman. Mr. Wilcox will return to Akron this evening, and Mr. Worcester will remain here several days.

The gentlemen had little to say of the events which brought about the resignation of Manager Curby. The Cleveland Press stated that Curby changed the combination of the safe before he went to Chicago, and a charge against him was made in the mayor's court. Curby learned of this, and wired an explanation and the charge was withdrawn.

A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Was the Banquet of the Relief Corps This Afternoon.

The Woman's Relief corps observed their tenth anniversary this afternoon in a fitting manner. There were many ladies present, when at 3 o'clock the merry party sat down to table. Mrs. George Grosshans presided, and the following program was carried out:

"The Day We Celebrate," Mrs. Myers; "Our Order," Mrs. McNutt, Wellsville; "Our Motto," Mrs. Bowers; "Patriotic Teaching," Mrs. Calhoun; "Our Object," Mrs. McKinnon; "Reminiscences," Mrs. Timmons, Mrs. Jessop Miss Hazlett.

Letters were read from Mrs. Crossinger, department commander, Mrs. Wilson, assistant installing officer, and Mrs. Cooper, the Salem lady who instituted the lodge. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent.

The invited guests from Wellsville are Mrs. G. B. Aten, Mrs. J. McNutt, Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Welsh, Mrs. Shipling and Mrs. I. L. James.

AFTER INFORMATION.

Doctor Probst Wants to Know Something of Anti-toxine.

There are still a number of physicians in Ohio who doubt the efficacy of anti-toxine, and an effort is being made to arrive at an accurate conclusion based upon as large a number of cases as possible. Doctor Probst, secretary of the state board of health, is sending circular letters to the physicians of the state who have reported cases of diphtheria to health boards, asking them to fill out enclosed blanks and return to the secretary. The questions on the blanks have been prepared in such a manner as to make the record of each case complete. Physicians are asked to report each of their cases of diphtheria or membranous croup and whether anti-toxine was used.

THE CROCKERY TRADE.

Dinner Ware Has Caught Favor and Jar-dinieres Are Good.

China, Glass and Lamps says this of the crockery trade:

"In regular lines of hotel china trade is fare, while the new lines of dinner ware, put on the market, remarkable for their lightness and superior decorations have caught the favor of the trade. The new toilets, many of which show excellent modeling, and more artistic decoration, are having a good run. Specialties and artistic novelties, of low price, combining beauty of shape and decoration with utility, are keeping several potteries employed, while jar dinieres of good quality and medium price are having a very large sale."

A SOCIAL

Will Be Held at the Auditorium Next Thursday.

Next Thursday evening the Young Men's Christian association will hold a reception and in inspection social. The committee in charge is composed of Doctor Beane, Charles Knowles, James Van Fossan, Charles Boyce and James Swamy. A phonographic concert by Prof. J. L. Swan will be given in the early part of the evening, after which those present will be invited to witness a gymnasium drill, under the direction of Director Morris, who has been drilling a class for some time. The entertainment will be free.

ONLY A RUMOR.

Not Believed Mr. Loree Will Take a Place.

The following from the Pittsburgh Post concerns a gentleman well known in this city:

"A story is being circulated among railroad circles which states that General Manager L. F. Loree, of the Pennsylvania lines, has been offered an important position under President McKinley. It is hardly possible that a man like Mr. Loree would think of giving up his present important position to embark on the hazardous sea of politics, where only one man out of a thousand can manage to keep afloat for a few years."

THE LISBON PROJECT.

Those Who Know About It Will Not Talk.

The announcement several days ago that East Liverpool men wanted to build and operate a pottery in Lisbon has brought out a great deal of discussion in this city, but the people who know the names of the principals will not say a word.

"I know one of the men," said a well known business man today, "and I can say positively that he is one of East Liverpool's best citizens. The town will lose a good man when he goes. I have every reason to believe that the deal will be consummated."

THE AMATEUR PLAYERS

Are Preparing For a Lively Baseball Season.

ONE CLUB OF TRAINED MEN

The Association Will Have a Team to Uphold Its Colors—Tombstones to Be in Line—Excellent Sport and Lots of It Is Promised.

The city will this year be represented by a baseball team which will equal the famous Eclipse club in its palmy days.

The players included in the roster are Baxter, Finch, Davis, catchers; Webber, McCurran, Guthrie, McShane, Lynch, pitchers; Goodwin, short; Heckathorne, Frey, first; Kennedy, second; Hester, third; Arnold, left. The other two fielders will be selected from the extra material.

"Our Boys" is the name of another team which has on its list, Reed and Ward, catchers; Davis and Ashbaugh, pitchers; Headley, short; Weston, first; Huff, second; Myler, third; Fowler, left; Millwood, middle; Wines, right. Henry Green is the manager and Oliver Ashbaugh captain.

The Tombstones will put in a stronger team than usual this year, and will improve their diamond at Spring Grove campground.

"The association will have a baseball team this year," said Secretary Charles. "We have some good ball talent among the boys, and by spring expect to have all arrangements completed. The club will be able to defend the association colors, I think."

F. H. CROXALL FOR COUNCIL.

His Friends Would Like to See Him Represent the Third.

F. H. Croxall is wanted by many residents of the Third ward to represent them in council, and it is understood that the gentleman has been approached on the matter. He has not yet given his consent, but the friends of good government in that part of town believe he can be induced to make the race. Mr. Croxall has been so closely identified with the business interests of the city so long that he would make an excellent councilman.

THE VEHICLE TAX.

It Is Being Discussed by Finance Committee.

The finance committee are meeting this afternoon in the office of President Purinton, and discussing ways and means for paying back the vehicle tax. The recent proposition of the Pennsylvania company in regard to the Eighth street culvert will be submitted by Solicitor Grosshans, and some disposition will be made of it. The committee will also transact other minor business.

ABE BROWN'S PENSION.

His Comrades Are Still Working For an Increase.

The necessary papers for the application for an increase in the pension of Abe Brown, have all been filed at Washington with Hon. R. W. Taylor. The committee who have the matter in charge have no idea it will be reached in the coming session of congress, but they have much hope that Brown will eventually be given an increase in his pension.

DESTROYED NOTICES

And Constable Bertele Is After Several Young Men.

A number of young men have of late been destroying legal notices that have been tacked up throughout the town. Last evening Constable Bertele noticed several of these fellows destroying the notices, and states he will have warrants out for their arrest should they fail to make return for their actions. Their names are known.

POPULISTS MUST PETITION

If They Would Have a Place on Municipal Tickets.

Secretary of State Kinney has ruled that municipal Populist tickets will have to be put on the Australian ballot this spring by petition, no matter how many votes local Populist tickets got last fall. On state ticket the party failed to show standard strength, and the ruling is made on this ground.

The Deal Is Off.

George W. Meredith when asked today if there was truth in the report that he and a company were negotiating with the Chelsea Pottery company for the purpose of buying the plant said: "The deal is off. I have nothing further to say."

Before leaving town Mrs. Moore had some money, and the amount will be paid. Taylor, who is younger than the woman and boarded at her house, was given $50 and costs. When his account is squared he will have paid $71.45.

David Martin, aged 92 years, came here the other day to visit his daughter, Mrs. Alex Hanlin. Early in the week he was taken suddenly ill, and died last night. The remains were taken to his home in Eldersville, Pa., for interment. Mr. Martin, until his last illness, was in the best of health, and his friends believed he would live to see his century.

Were Formally Congratulated by the McKinley Club.

The meeting of the McKinley club last night was well attended, and one of the best in many weeks. President E. W. Hill made a happy speech in which he congratulated the members upon being again under a Republican president, and that president the man they know so well and honor so much. It was decided to formally congratulate the president on his success, and Governor Bushnell upon the appointment of M. A. Hanna to the senate. D. J. Smith made a brief but interesting address on state finances. The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday evening when the reports of the officers will be heard, and officers for the coming term elected. The financial condition of the organization will be discussed. Two new members were admitted last night, one of them being Joseph F. Marshall, candidate for senator.

Will Be Built at the Akron China Works at Once.

Thomas Worcester, president, and F. A. Wilcox, treasurer, of the Akron China company, are in the city. They came for the purpose of taking bids on the construction of two kilns that are to be added to the pottery at once. They are also in search of some good workman. Mr. Wilcox will return to Akron this evening, and Mr. Worcester will remain here several days.

The gentlemen had little to say of the events which brought about the resignation of Manager Curby. The Cleveland Press stated that Curby changed the combination of the safe before he went to Chicago, and a charge against him was made in the mayor's court. Curby learned of this, and wired an explanation and the charge was withdrawn.

A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Was the Banquet of the Relief Corps This Afternoon.

The Woman's Relief corps observed their tenth anniversary this afternoon in a fitting manner. There were many ladies present, when at 3 o'clock the merry party sat down to table. Mrs. George Grosshans presided, and the following program was carried out:

"The Day We Celebrate," Mrs. Myers; "Our Order," Mrs. McNutt, Wellsville; "Our Motto," Mrs. Bowers; "Patriotic Teaching," Mrs. Calhoun; "Our Object," Mrs. McKinnon; "Reminiscences," Mrs. Timmons, Mrs. Jessop, Miss Hazlett.

Letters were read from Mrs. Crossinger, department commander, Mrs. Wilson, assistant installing officer, and Mrs. Cooper, the Salem lady who instituted the lodge. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent.

The invited guests from Wellsville are Mrs. G. B. Aten, Mrs. J. McNutt, Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Welsh, Mrs. Shipling and Mrs. I. L. James.

AFTER INFORMATION.

There are still a number of physicians in Ohio who doubt the efficacy of anti-toxine, and an effort is being made to arrive at an accurate conclusion based upon as large a number of cases as possible. Doctor Probst, secretary of the state board of health, is sending circular letters to the physicians of the state who have reported cases of diphtheria to health boards, asking them to fill out enclosed blanks and return to the secretary. The questions on the blanks have been prepared in such a manner as to make the record of each case complete. Physicians are asked to report each of their cases of diphtheria or membranous croup and whether anti-toxine was used.

THE CROCKERY TRADE.

Dinner Ware Has Caught Favor and Jarinieres Are Good.

China, Glass and Lamps says this of the crockery trade:

"In regular lines of hotel china trade is fare, while the new lines of dinner ware, put on the market, remarkable for their lightness and superior decorations have caught the favor of the trade. The new toilets, many of which show excellent modeling, and more artistic decoration, are having a good run. Specialties and artistic novelties, of low price, combining beauty of shape and decoration with utility, are keeping several potteries employed, while jarinieres of good quality and medium price are having a very large sale."

A SOCIAL

Next Thursday evening the Young Men's Christian association will hold a reception and in inspection social. The committee in charge is composed of Doctor Beane, Charles Knowles, James Van Fossan, Charles Boyce and James Swamy. A phonographic concert by Prof. J. L. Swan will be given in the early part of the evening, after which those present will be invited to witness a gymnasium drill, under the direction of Director Morris, who has been drilling a class for some time. The entertainment will be free.

Not Believed Mr. Loree Will Take a Place.

The following from the Pittsburgh Post concerns a gentleman well known in this city:

"A story is being circulated among railroad circles which states that General Manager L. F. Loree, of the Pennsylvania lines, has been offered an important position under President McKinley. It is hardly possible that a man like Mr. Loree would think of giving up his present important position to embark on the hazardous sea of politics, where only one man out of a thousand can manage to keep afloat for a few years."

Those Who Know About It Will Not Talk.

The announcement several days ago that East Liverpool men wanted to build and operate a pottery in Lisbon has brought out a great deal of discussion in this city, but the people who know the names of the principals will not say a word.

"I know one of the men," said a well known business man today, "and I can say positively that he is one of East Liverpool's best citizens. The town will lose a good man when he goes. I have every reason to believe that the deal will be consummated."

THE AMATEUR PLAYERS

Are Preparing For a Lively Baseball Season.

ONE CLUB OF TRAINED MEN

The Association Will Have a Team to Uphold Its Colors—Tombstones to Be In Line—Excellent Sport and Lots of It Is Promised.

The leading ball players of the city have determined to have an organization of their own, and will meet Monday evening to select a manager and name for the club. The players included in the roster are Baxter, Finch, Davis, catchers; Webber, McCurran, Guthrie, McShane, Lynch, pitchers; Goodwin, short; Heckathorne, Frey, first; Kennedy, second; Hester, third; Arnold, left. The other two fielders will be selected from the extra material.

"Our Boys" is the name of another team which has on its list, Reed and Ward, catchers; Davis and Ashbaugh, pitchers; Headly, short; Weston, first; Huff, second; Myler, third; Fowler, left; Millwood, middle; Wines, right. Henry Green is the manager and Oliver Ashbaugh captain.

The Tombstones will put in a stronger team than usual this year, and will improve their diamond at Spring Grove campground.

"The association will have a baseball team this year," said Secretary Charles. "We have some good ball talent among the boys, and by spring expect to have all arrangements completed. The club will be able to defend the association colors, I think."

F. H. CROXALL FOR COUNCIL.

His Friends Would Like to See Him Represent the Third.

F. H. Croxall is wanted by many residents of the Third ward to represent them in council, and it is understood that the gentleman has been approached on the matter. He has not yet given his consent, but the friends of good government in that part of town believe he can be induced to make the race. Mr. Croxall has been so closely identified with the business interests of the city so long that he would make an excellent councilman.

THE VEHICLE TAX.

It Is Being Discussed by Finance Committee.

The finance committee are meeting this afternoon in the office of President Purinton, and discussing ways and means for paying back the vehicle tax. The recent proposition of the Pennsylvania company in regard to the Eighth street culvert will be submitted by Solicitor Grosshans, and some disposition will be made of it. The committee will also transact other minor business.

ABE BROWN'S PENSION.

His Comrades Are Still Working For an Increase.

The necessary papers for the application for an increase in the pension of Abe Brown, have all been filed at Washington with Hon. R. W. Taylor. The committee who have the matter in charge have no idea it will be reached in the coming session of congress, but they have much hope that Brown will eventually be given an increase in his pension.

And Constable Bertele Is After Several Young Men.

A number of young men have of late been destroying legal notices that have been tacked up throughout the town. Last evening Constable Bertele noticed several of these fellows destroying the notices, and states he will have warrants out for their arrest should they fail to make return for their actions. Their names are known.

If They Would Have a Place on Municipal Tickets.

Secretary of State Kinney has ruled that municipal Populist tickets will have to be put on the Australian ballot this spring by petition, no matter how many votes local Populist tickets got last fall. On state ticket the party failed to show standard strength, and the ruling is made on this ground.

THE DEAL IS OFF.

George W. Meredith when asked today if there was truth in the report that he and a company were negotiating with the Chelsea Pottery company for the purpose of buying the plant said: "The deal is off. I have nothing further to say."

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, MARCH 5

How thankful the country should be

that McKinley and not Bryan was inaugurated yesterday.

The patriots of Cuba breathe easier to-

day. Their enemies in Washington are now private citizens shorn of power to do them harm.

Let the candidates for council appear.

The more the merrier. With a big field of starters the people will have no more difficulty in choosing the best.

Now let the silver people keep quiet for a little time, and we can have prosperity. We will have it anyway, but they can delay it by their senseless calamity howling.

In many towns in Ohio the people are clamoring for better municipal government, and they will get it. Is East

Liverpool asleep that it will not move

toward the selection of good men with

good motives for council?

MORE interest than has to the present

time developed should be shown in the municipal campaign. Good government can only be obtained through good

men, and good men can only be elected

after they have been announced.

CONGRESS showed unusual wisdom in

allowing the bill prohibiting the publication of accounts of prize fights to die.

A precedent in that line would be press censorship, and we believe that is something this country will never allow.

The prospect for a good run in the potteries and a consequent increase in

the retail business of the city grows

better with every day. A higher tariff,

aided by the merit of East Liverpool

ware, will produce a market as valuable

as it will be extensive.

The last and most alarming report of the coming state campaign is the anouncement that Hon. Jerry Simpson, bare foot and all, will leave the sacred precincts of Medicine Lodge, and come to Ohio for a stumping tour of two weeks. If we ever had any doubt of

the result being a Republican victory,

that settles it.

A VIGOROUS POLICY.

There is every reason to believe that

Hon. John Sherman will at once institute a vigorous foreign policy. In his speech in the senate last week he said:

"I am opposed to wrong and violence

and tyranny wherever it is exercised,

and when it is exercised against an

American citizen I will stand up for

him if I stand alone."

That should be sufficient for even a jingio. It shows that the new secretary has lost none of his backbone. In that he represents by far the large majority of Americans, who can see no use for a government if it is so weak or so

corrupt that it cannot protect its subjects.

THE POPULAR SUBSCRIPTION.

While no good excuse can ever be found for those towns which hold out bonuses after bonus to unscrupulous speculators, able and anxious to accumu-

late a fortune at the expense of anyone,

they care not who, there is no reason

why other places, more or less enterprising but infinitely more sensible,

would not advance their own prosperity

by assisting reliable manufacturing concerns to locate within their borders.

The day of taxation for gifts to prospective boomers has passed, but the wide awake business men of a wide awake

town will never let the opportunity to increase the population and wealth of their community go by. Popular subscription has done wonders in the past,

and in the pushing place it is destined

without diminishing the circulating medium, or offering a premium for its contraction, will put a remedy for those arrangements which, temporary in their nature, might well in the years of our prosperity have been displaced by wiser provisions. With adequate revenue secured, but not until then, we can enter upon such changes in our fiscal laws as will, while insuring safety and volume to our money, no longer impose upon the government the necessity of maintaining so large a gold reserve with its attendant and inevitable temptations to speculation. Most of our financial laws are the outgrowth of experience and trial, and should not be amended without further investigation and demonstration of wisdom of the proposed changes. We must be both sure we are right and make haste slowly. If, therefore, congress in its wisdom shall deem it expedient to create a commission to take under early consideration the revision of our coinage, banking and currency laws, and give them that exhaustive, careful and dispassionate examination that their importance demands, I shall cordially concur in such action. If such power is vested in the president, it is my purpose to appoint a commission of prominent, well informed citizens of different parties who will command public confidence both on account of their ability and special fitness for the work. Business experience and public training may thus be combined and the patriotic zeal of the friends of the country be so directed that such a report will be made to the president, the support of all parties and our finances cease to be the subject of mere partisan contention. The experiment is, at all events, worth a trial and, in my opinion, it can but prove beneficial to the entire country.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—President McKinley's inaugural address was as follows:

FELLOW CITIZENS.—In obedience to the will of the people in their presence, by the authority vested in me by this oath, I assume the arduous and responsible duties of president of the United States, relying on the support of my countrymen and invoking the guidance of Almighty God. Our faith teaches that there is no safer reliance than upon the God of our fathers, who has so singularly favored the American people in every national trial, and who will not forsake us so long as we obey his commandments and walk in his footsteps.

The responsibilities of the high trust to which I have been called—always of grave importance—are augmented by the prevailing business conditions, entailing illness upon willing labor and loss to useful enterprises. The country is suffering from industrial disturbances from which speedy relief must be had. Our financial system needs some revision; our money is all good now, but its value must not further be threatened. It should all be put upon an enduring basis not subject to easy attack, nor its stability to doubt or dispute. Our currency should continue under the supervision of the government. The several forms of our paper money, in my judgment, a constant embarrassment to the government and a safe harbor in the treasury. Therefore I believe it necessary to devise a system which, while it has the approval of the people and the government, shall be a permanent and safe basis for our currency.

The question of international bimetalism will have early and earnest attention. It will be my constant endeavor to secure it by co-operation with the other great commercial powers of the world. Until that condition is realized when the parity between our gold and silver money springs from and is supported by the relative value of the two metals, the value of the silver already coined and of that which may hereafter be coined must be kept constantly at par with gold by every resource at our command. The credit of the government, the integrity of its currency and the inviolability of its obligations must be preserved. This was the commanding verdict of the people and it will not be unheeded.

Economy is demanded in every branch of the government at all times, but especially in periods like the present of depression in business and distress among the people. The severest economy must be observed in all public expenditures, and extravagance stopped wherever it is found, and prevented wherever it is feared it may be developed. If the revenues are to remain as now, the only relief that can come must be from decreased expenditures. But the present must not become the permanent condition of the government. It has been our uniform practice to retire, not increase our outstanding obligations and this policy must again be resumed and vigorously enforced. Our revenues should always be large enough to meet with ease and promptness not only our current needs and the principal interest of the public debt, but to make proper and liberal provision for the most deserving body of public creditors, the soldiers and sailors and the widows and orphans who are the pensioners of the United States.

The government should not be permitted to run behind, or increase its debt, in times like the present. Suitably to provide against this is the mandate of duty, the certain and easy remedy for most of our financial difficulties. A deficiency is inevitable so long as the expenditures of the government exceed its receipts. It can only be met by loans and increased revenues. While a large annual surplus of revenue may invite waste and extravagance, inadequate revenue creates distrust and undermines public and private confidence. Neither should be encouraged. Between more loans and more revenue there ought to be but one opinion. We should have more revenue, and that without delay, hindrance or postponement. A surplus in the treasury, created by loan, is not a permanent or safe reliance. It will suffice while it lasts, but it cannot last long while the outlays of the government are greater than its receipts as has been the case during the past two years. Nor must it be forgotten that however much such loans may temporarily relieve the situation, the government is still indebted for the amount of the surplus thus accrued, which it must ultimately pay, while such a loan is not strengthened but weakened by a continuing deficit. Loans are imperative in great emergencies to preserve the government or credit, but a failure to supply needed resources in time of need for the maintenance of either has no justification.

The best way for the government to maintain its credit is to pay as it goes, not by resorting to loans, but by keeping out of debt—through an adequate income secured by a system of taxation, external or internal, or both. It is the settled policy of the government pursued from the beginning and practiced by all parties and administrations, to raise the bulk of our revenue from taxes upon foreign productions entering the United States for sale and consumption, and avoiding for the most part every form of direct taxation, except in time of war. The country is clearly opposed to any needless additions to the objects of internal taxation, and is committed by its latest popular utterance to the system of tariff taxation. There can be no misunderstanding, either about the principle upon which this tariff taxation is to be levied. Nothing has ever been made plainer at a general election than that the controlling principle in the raising of revenue from duties on imports is zealous care for American interests and American labor. The people have declared that such legislation should be had as will give ample protection and encouragement to the industries and development of the country. It is, therefore, earnestly hoped and expected that congress will at the earliest possible moment enact revenue legislation that shall be fair, reasonable, conservative and just, and which, while supplying sufficient revenue for public purposes, will still be signally beneficial and helpful to every section and to every enterprise of the people. To this policy we are all, of whatever party, firmly bound by the voice of the people—a power vastly more potent than the expression of any political platform. The paramount duty of congress is to stop deficiencies by the restoration of that protective legislation which has always been the foremost prop of the treasury. The passage of such a law or laws would strengthen the credit of the government both at home and abroad, and go far toward stopping the drain upon the gold reserve held for the redemption of our currency, which has been heavy and well nigh constant for several years.

In the revision of the tariff, especial attention should be given to the reciprocal principle of the law of 1890, under which so great a stimulus was given to our foreign trade in new and advantageous markets for our surplus agricultural and manufacturing products. The brief trial given this legislation amply justifies a further experiment and additional discretionary power in the making of commercial treaties, the end in view always to be the opening up of new markets for the products of our country by granting concessions to the products of other lands that we need and cannot produce ourselves, and which do not involve any loss of labor to our own people, but tend to in-

The depression of the past four years has fallen with especial severity upon the great body of toilers of the country, and upon none more than the holders of small farms. Agriculture has languished and labor suffered. The revival of manufacturing will be relief to both. No portion of our population is more devoted to the institutions of free government, nor more loyal to their support, which none bears more cheerfully or fully its proper share in the maintenance of government or is better entitled to its wise and liberal care and protection. Legislation helpful to producers is beneficial to all. The depressed condition of industry on the farm and in the mine and factory have lessened the ability of the people to meet the demands upon them, and they rightfully expect that not only a system of revenue shall be established that will secure the largest income with the lowest burden, but that means will be taken to decrease, rather than increase, our public expenditures. Business conditions are not the most promising. It will take time to restore the prosperity of former years. We cannot properly attain it, we can resolutely turn our faces in that direction and aid its return by friendly legislation. However troublesome the situation may be, we must not allow our hands to grow lax in the disposition or ability to relieve it, as far as legislation can do so. The restoration of confidence and the revival of business which men of all parties so much desire depend more largely upon the prompt, energetic and intelligent action of congress than upon any other similar agency affecting the situation.

It is inspiring, too, to remember that no great emergency in the 108 years of our eventful national life has ever arisen that has not been met with wisdom and courage by American people with fidelity to their best interests and highest destiny to the honor of the American nation. The years of glorious history have exalted mankind and advanced the cause of freedom throughout the world and immeasurably strengthened the precious free institutions which we enjoy. The people's love and will sustain these institutions. Lynchings must not be tolerated in a great and civilized country like the United States; courts and the highest courts must enforce the penalties of the law. The preservation of public order, the right of dissent, the integrity of courts and the orderly administration of justice must continue forever the rock of safety upon which our government securely rests.

One of the lessons taught by the late election, which all can rejoice in, is that the citizens of the United States are both law-respecting and law-abiding people, not easily swayed from the path of patriotism and honor. This is in entire accord with the genius of our institutions and but emphasizes the advantages of inculcating even a greater love for law and order in the future. Immunity should be granted to none who violate the laws, whether individuals, corporations or communities and as the constitution imposes upon the president the duty of both its preservation and its execution, it is his duty to see that the laws are faithfully carried out. The declaration of the party now restored to power has been in the past that of "opportunity in trust or otherwise, to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens," and it has supported "such legislation as will prevent the execution of the laws in such a manner as to impose unjust rates for the transportation of their products to market." This purpose will be steadily pursued, both by the enforcement of the laws now in existence and the recommendation and support of such new statutes as may be necessary to

The country is clearly opposed to any needless additions to the objects of internal taxation, and is committed by its latest popular utterance to the system of tariff taxation. There can be no misunderstanding, either about the principle upon which this tariff taxation is to be levied. Nothing has ever been made plainer at a general election than that the controlling principle in the raising of revenue from duties on imports is zealous care for American interests and American labor. The people have declared that such legislation should be had as will give ample protection and encouragement to the industries and development of the country. It is, therefore, earnestly hoped and expected that congress will at the earliest possible moment enact revenue legislation that shall be fair, reasonable, conservative and just, and which, while supplying sufficient revenue for public purposes, will still be signally beneficial and helpful to every section and to every enterprise of the people. To this policy we are all, of whatever party, firmly bound by the voice of the people—a power vastly more potent than the expression of any political platform. The paramount duty of congress is to stop deficiencies by the restoration of that protective legislation which has always been the foremost prop of the treasury. The passage of such a law or laws would strengthen the credit of the government both at home and abroad, and go far toward stopping the drain upon the gold reserve held for the redemption of our currency, which has been heavy and well nigh constant for several years.

In the revision of the tariff, especial attention should be given to the reciprocal principle of the law of 1890, under which so great a stimulus was given to our foreign trade in new and advantageous markets for our surplus agricultural and manufacturing products. The brief trial given this legislation amply justifies a further experiment and additional discretionary power in the making of commercial treaties, the end in view always to be the opening up of new markets for the products of our country by granting concessions to the products of other lands that we need and cannot produce ourselves, and which do not involve any loss of labor to our own people, but tend to in-

The depression of the past four years has fallen with especial severity upon the great body of toilers of the country, and upon none more than the holders of small farms. Agriculture has languished and labor suffered. The revival of manufacturing will be relief to both. No portion of our population is more devoted to the institutions of free government, nor more loyal to their support, which none bears more cheerfully or fully its proper share in the maintenance of government or is better entitled to its wise and liberal care and protection. Legislation helpful to producers is beneficial to all. The depressed condition of industry on the farm and in the mine and factory have lessened the ability of the people to meet the demands upon them, and they rightfully expect that not only a system of revenue shall be established that will secure the largest income with the lowest burden, but that means will be taken to decrease, rather than increase, our public expenditures. Business conditions are not the most promising. It will take time to restore the prosperity of former years. We cannot properly attain it, we can resolutely turn our faces in that direction and aid its return by friendly legislation. However troublesome the situation may be, we must not allow our hands to grow lax in the disposition or ability to relieve it, as far as legislation can do so. The restoration of confidence and the revival of business which men of all parties so much desire depend more largely upon the prompt, energetic and intelligent action of congress than upon any other similar agency affecting the situation.

It is inspiring, too, to remember that no great emergency in the 108 years of our eventful national life has ever arisen that has not been met with wisdom and courage by American people with fidelity to their best interests and highest destiny to the honor of the American nation. The years of glorious history have exalted mankind and advanced the cause of freedom throughout the world and immeasurably strengthened the precious free institutions which we enjoy. The people's love and will sustain these institutions. Lynchings must not be tolerated in a great and civilized country like the United States; courts and the highest courts must enforce the penalties of the law. The preservation of public order, the right of dissent, the integrity of courts and the orderly administration of justice must continue forever the rock of safety upon which our government securely rests.

One of the lessons taught by the late election, which all can rejoice in, is that the citizens of the United States are both law-respecting and law-abiding people, not easily swayed from the path of patriotism and honor. This is in entire accord with the genius of our institutions and but emphasizes the advantages of inculcating even a greater love for law and order in the future. Immunity should be granted to none who violate the laws, whether individuals, corporations or communities and as the constitution imposes upon the president the duty of both its preservation and its execution, it is his duty to see that the laws are faithfully carried out. The declaration of the party now restored to power has been in the past that of "opportunity in trust or otherwise, to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens," and it has supported "such legislation as will prevent the execution of the laws in such a manner as to impose unjust rates for the transportation of their products to market." This purpose will be steadily pursued, both by the enforcement of the laws now in existence and the recommendation and support of such new statutes as may be necessary to carry it into effect.

How thankful the country should be
that McKinley and not Bryan was inaugurated yesterday.

THE patriots of Cuba breathe easier to-
day. Their enemies in Washington are now private citizens shorn of power to do them harm.

LET the candidates for council appear.
The more the merrier. With a big field of starters the people will not have so much difficulty in choosing the best.

Now let the silver people keep quiet for a little time, and we can have prosperity. We will have it anyway, but they can delay it by their senseless calamity hanging.

In many towns in Ohio the people are clamoring for better municipal government, and they will get it. Is East Liverpool asleep that it will not move
toward the selection of good men with
good motives for council?

MORE interest than has to the present
time developed should be shown in the municipal campaign. Good government can only be obtained through good
men, and good men can only be elected
after they have been announced.

CONGRESS showed unusual wisdom in
allowing the bill prohibiting the publication of accounts of prize fights to die. A precedent in that line would be press censorship, and we believe that is something this country will never allow.

THE prospect for a good year in the potteries and a consequent increase in
the retail business of the city grows
better with every day. A higher tariff,
aided by the merit of East Liverpool
ware, will produce a market as valuable
as it will be extensive.

THE last and most alarming report of
the coming state campaign is the announcement that Hon. Jerry Simpson, bare feet and all, will leave the sacred precincts of Medicine Lodge, and come to Ohio for a stamping tour of two weeks. If we ever had any doubt of
the result being a Republican victory,
that settles it.

A VIGOROUS POLICY.

There is every reason to believe that
Hon. John Sherman will at once institute a vigorous foreign policy. In his speech in the senate last week he said:

"I am opposed to wrong and violence
and tyranny wherever it is exercised,
and when it is exercised against an American citizen I will stand up for
him if I stand alone."

That should be sufficient for even a jingo. It shows that the new secretary has lost none of his backbone. In that he represents by far the large majority
of Americans, who can see no use for
a government if it is so weak or so
corrupt that it cannot protect its subjects.

THE POPULAR SUBSCRIPTION.

While no good excuse can ever be
found for those towns which hold out bonus after bonus to unscrupulous speculators, able and anxious to accumu-
late a fortune at the expense of anyone,
they care not who, there is no reason
why other places, more or less enterprising but infinitely more sensible,
would not advance their own prosperity
by assisting reliable manufacturing concerns to locate within their borders. The day of taxation for gifts to prospective boomers has passed, but the wide awake
town will never let the opportunity to increase the population and wealth of
their community go by. Popular subscription has done wonders in the past,
and in the pushing place it is destined
to do wonders in the future.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

The New President Declared
His Intended Policy.

CONGRESS WILL MEET MARCH 15.

Urged the Passage of the Arbitration Treaty—Will Enforce the Laws Against Trusts—Determined to Protect Americans Abroad—Wants Tariff Revised.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—President McKinley's inaugural address was as follows:

FELLOW CITIZENS—In obedience to the will of the people in their presence, by the authority vested in me by this oath, I assume the arduous and responsible duties of president of the United States, relying on the support of my countrymen and invoking the guidance of Almighty God. Our faith teaches that there is no safer reliance than upon the God of our fathers, who has so singularly favored the American people in every national trial, and who will not forsake us so long as we obey his commandments and walk in his footsteps.

The responsibilities of the high trust to which I have been called—always of grave importance—are augmented by the pre-valing business conditions, entailing difficulty upon willing labor and loss to useful enterprises. The country is suffering from industrial disturbances from which speedy relief must be had. Our financial system needs some revision; our money is all good now, but its value must not further be threatened. It should all be put upon an enduring basis not subject to easy attack, nor its stability to doubt or dispute. Our currency should continue under the supervision of the government, the several forms of our paper money offer, in my judgment, a constant embarassment to the government and a safe balance in the treasury. Therefore I believe it necessary to devise a system which,

JOSEPH BROS.

Without diminishing the circulating me- dium, or offering a premium, for its in- crease, will put a remedy for those ar- rangements which, temporary in their nature, might well in the years of our prosperity have been displaced by wiser provisions. With adequate revenue se- cured, but not until then, we can enter upon such changes in our fiscal laws as will, while insuring safety and volume to our money, no longer impose upon the government the necessity of maintaining so large a gold reserve with its at- tendant and inevitable temptations to speculation. Most of our financial laws are the outgrowth of experience and trial, and should not be amended without fur- ther investigation and demonstration of wisdom of the proposed changes. We must be both "sure we are right" and "make haste slowly." If, therefore, congress in its wisdom shall deem it ex- pedient to create a commission to take under early consideration the revision of our coinage, banking and currency laws, and give them the exhaustive, careful and dispassionate examination that their im- portance demands, I shall cordially con- cur in such action. If such power is vested in the president, it is my purpose to appoint a commission of prominent, well informed citizens of different parties who will command public confidence both on account of their ability and special fit- ness for the work. Business experience and public training may thus be com- bined and the patriotic zeal of the friends of the country be so directed that such a report will be made to receive the sup- port of all parties and our finances cease to be the subject of mere partisan con- tention. The experiment is, at all events, worth a trial and, in my opinion, it can but prove beneficial to the entire coun- try.

The best way for the government to maintain its credit is to pay as it goes—not by resorting to loans, but by keeping out of debt—through an adequate income secured by a system of taxation, external or internal, or both. It is the settled policy of the government pursued from the beginning and practiced by all parties and administrations, to raise the bulk of our revenue from taxes upon foreign productions entering the United States for sale and consumption, and avoiding for the most part every form of direct taxation, except in time of war. The country is clearly opposed to any needless additions to the subjects of internal taxation, and is committed by its latest popular utterance to a system of tariff taxation. There is no misunderstanding, either, about the principle upon which this tariff taxation shall be levied. Nothing has ever been made plainer at a general election than that the controlling principle in the raising of revenue from duties on imports is zealous care for American interests and American labor. The people have declared that such legislation should be had as will give ample protection and encouragement to the industries and development of the country. It is, therefore, earnestly hoped and expected that congress will at the earliest possible moment enact revenue legislation that shall be fair, reasonable, conservative and just, and which, while supplying sufficient revenue for public purposes, will still be signally beneficial and helpful to every section and to every enterprise of the people. To this policy I am firmly bound by the voice of the people—a power vastly more potent than the expression of any political platform. The paramount duty of congress is to stop deficiencies, restorations of that protective legislation which has always been the foremost prop of the treasury. The passage of such a law or laws would strengthen the credit of the government both at home and abroad, and go far toward supplying to the industries and development of the redemption of our currency, which has been heavy and well long constant for several years.

In the revision of the tariff, especial attention should be given to the re-enactment and extension of the reciprocity principle of the law of 1890, under which so great a stimulus was given to our foreign trade in new and valuable markets for our surplus agricultural and manufacturing products. The brief trial given this legislation amply justifies a further experiment and additional discretionary power in the making of commercial treaties, the end in view always to be the opening up of new markets for the products of our country by granting concessions to the products of other lands that we need and cannot produce ourselves, and which do not involve any loss of labor to our own people, but tend to increase revenues. While a large annual surplus of revenue may invite waste and extravagance, inadequate revenue creates distrust and undermines public and private confidence. Neither should be encourage. Between more loans and more revenue there ought to be but one opinion.

We should have more revenue, and that without delay, hindrance or postponement. A surplus in the treasury, created by loans, is not a permanent or safe reliance. It will suffice while it lasts, but it cannot last long while the outlays of the government are greater than its receipts as has been the case during the past two years. Nor must it be forgotten that, however much such loans may temporarily relieve the situation, the government is still indebted for the amount of the surplus thus accrued, which it must ultimately pay, while its ability to pay is not strengthened but weakened by a continuous deficit. Loans are imperative in great emergencies to preserve the government or credit, but a failure to supply needed revenue in time of peace is the maintenance of either has no justification.

Should Pay as You Go.

One of the lessons taught by the late election, which all can rejoice in, is that the citizens of the United States are both law-respecting and law-abiding people, not easily swayed from the path of patriotism and honor. This is in entire accord with the genius of our institutions and but emphasizes the advantages of electing even a greater love for law and order in the future. Immunity should be granted to none who violate the laws, whether individuals, corporations or communities and as the constitution imposes upon the president the duty of both own execution and of the statutes enacted in pursuance of its provisions, I shall endeavor carefully to carry them into effect.
The declaration of the party now restored to power has been in the past that of opposition to all combinations of capital organized in trust or otherwise, to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens, and it has supported such legislation as will prevent the execution of all the schemes to oppress people by unjust rates for the transportation of their products to market. This purpose will be steadily pursued, both by the enforcement of the laws now in existence and the recommendation and support of such new statutes as may be necessary to carry it into effect.

Our naturalization and immigration laws should be further improved to the constant promotion of a safer, a better and a higher citizenship. A grave peril to the republic would be a citizenship too ignorant to understand, or too vicious to appreciate, the great value and bend-ence of our institutions and laws—and against all who were here to make war upon the great gates must be promptly and tightly closed. Nor must we be unmindful of the improvement among our own citizens, but with the zeal of our forefathers, encourage the spread of knowledge and free education.

Reforms in the civil service must go on.
But the changes should be real and genuine, not perfunctory, or prompted by a zeal in behalf of any party, simply because it is supposed to be the most efficient service. The purpose of my member of congress I voted and spoke in favor of the present law, and I shall attempt its enforcement in the spirit in which it was enacted. The purpose of my service was to secure the most efficient service of the best men, who would accept appointment under the government, retaining faithful and devoted public servants in office, but shielding none, and under the authority of any power, who are inefficient, incompetent or unworthy.
Congress should give prompt attention to the restoration of our merchant marine, once the pride of the seas on all the great ocean highways of commerce. The mind few important subjects so imperatively demand its intelligent consideration. The United States has progressively with marvelous rapidity in every field of enterprise and endeavor until we have become foremost in nearly all the great lines of inland trade, commerce and industry.
Yet while this is true, our American merchant marine has been steadily declining until it is now lower both in the quality of tonnage and the number of vessels employed than it was prior to the civil war. Commendable progress has been made of late years in the rebuilding of the American navy, but we must supplement these efforts by providing a proper consort for it. A relation by sea must be maintained with the United States foreign countries. The question is one that appeals both to our business interests and patriotic aspirations of a great people.

Will Protect Americans Abroad.

It has been the policy of the United States since the foundation of the government to cultivate relations of peace and amity with all the nations of the world, and this accords with my conception of our duty now. We have cherished the policy of non-interference, wisely in the affairs of foreign governments, wisely augmented by Washington. Keeping ourselves free from entanglement either as allies or foes, we have been able to withstand the settlement of their own domestic concerns. It will be our aim to pursue a firm and dignified foreign policy which shall be just, impartial, ever watchful of our national honor and the rights of our citizens, and the enforcement of the lawful rights of American citizens everywhere.
We want no wars of conquest; we must avoid the temptation of territorial aggression. War should never be entered upon until every agency of peace has failed; peace is preferable to war in almost every contingency.

Arbitration is the true method of settlement of international as well as local and individual differences. It was recognized as the best means of adjustment of differences between employers and employees by the Forty-ninth congress in 1886, and its application was extended to our diplomatic relations by the same congress. The revivification of the Fifty-first congress in 1890. The latter resolution was accepted as the basis of negotiations by us by the house of commons in 1893, and upon our invitation the plenipotentiaries of the United States and Great Britain were signed at Washington and transmitted to the senate for its ratification in July last.

Since this treaty is clearly the result of our own initiative, since it has been recognized as the leading feature of our foreign policy throughout our national history—the adjustment of difficulties by judicial methods rather than the force of arms—and since it presents to the world a greater example of peace, not passion and war, controlling the relations between two of the greatest nations of the world, an example certainly to be followed by others, I respectfully urge the early action of the senate in ratifying this treaty.
The importance and moral influence of the ratification of such a treaty can hardly be overestimated—in the cause of advancing civilization. It may well engage the thoughts of the best statesmen and people of every country, and I cannot but consider it fortunate that it was resolved to the United States to have the leadership in so grand a work.

Extra Session of Congress.

It has been the uniform practice of each president to avoid as far as possible the convening of congress in extraordinary session. It is an example which, under ordinary circumstances and in the absence of a public necessity, is to be commended.
But a failure to convene the representatives of the people in congress in extra-session when it involves neglected public duty places the responsibility of such neglect upon the executive himself.
The condition of the public treasury, as has been indicated, demands the immediate action of congress. The president alone has the power to provide revenues for the government. Not to convene it under such circumstances I can view in no other sense than the neglect of a plain duty. I do not sympathize with the sentiment that congress in session is a danger to our general business interests. Its members are the agents of the people and their presence at the seat of government in the execution of the sovereign will should not operate as an injury, but a benefit.

There could be no better time to put the government on a sound financial and economic basis than now. The people have only recently voted that this should be done, and nothing is more binding upon the agents of their will than the obligation of immediate action. It has always seemed to me that the postponement of the meeting of congress until more than a year after it has been chosen is a neglect of the duty of the president of the corresponding benefits. It is evident, therefore, that to postpone action in the presence of so great a necessity would be unwise and an injury to the people.
Our actions now will be free from mere partisan consideration than if the question of tariff revision was postponed until the regular session of congress. We are nearly two years past the time when elections, and politics cannot be district as if such contest was immediately pending. We can approach the problem calmly and patriotically without feeling its urgency. This is in my opinion the best time to settle so reasonably, as I trust and believe it will be, as to insure great permanency—than to have further uncertainty menacing the vast and varied business interests of the United States. Again, whatever action congress may take will be given a fair opportunity for trial before the people are called to pass judgment upon it, and this I consider a great essential to the rightful and lasting settlement of the question. In view of the conditions I shall deem it my duty as president to convene congress in extraordinary session on Monday, March 15.

Sectionalism Being Wiped Out.

In conclusion, I congratulate the country upon the fraternal spirit of the people and the manifestations of good will everywhere so apparent. The recent elections not only most fortunately demonstrated the obliteration of sectional or geographical lines, but to some extent also the prejudices which for years have distracted our country and barred our true greatness as a nation. The triumph of the people, whose verdict is carried into effect to-day, is not the triumph of one section nor wholly of one party, but of all sections and all the people. The north and the south no longer divide on the old lines, but upon principles and policies, and in this fact surely every lover of the country can find cause for true solatation.

Let us rejoice in and cultivate this spirit—it is ennobling and will be with gain and blessing to our beloved country.
It will be my constant aim to do nothing and permit nothing to be done that will arrest or disturb this growing sentiment of unity and co-operation and revival of esteem and affiliation which now animates so many thousands on both the old antagonistic sections, but I shall cheerfully do anything possible to promote and increase it.

KILLED WHEN PASSING

Gas In a Subway Exploded In Boston.

SIX PEOPLE DIED OUTRIGHT.

A Number of Persons Received Serious Injuries—Buildings Damaged—Several Electric Cars Wrecked—The Property Loss Will Amount to $35,000.

BOSTON, March 5.—The worst accident of its kind ever known in Boston occurred when an explosion of illuminating gas in the subway at the intersection of Tremont and Boylston streets caused the death of six persons and injury to a score or more of others, although not more than ten were severely hurt. Buildings for hundreds of feet in all directions were damaged by the concussion, and several electric cars which were passing were wrecked. One caught fire and was burned to the trucks. The property loss probably will amount to $35,000, including losses from a general demolition of goods in adjacent stores.

The killed are:
Rev. William A. Start, Medford, bur-car of Tufts college.
William T. Vinal, Salem, Mass.
Miss A. M. Bates, Boston.
Guilford D. Bigelow, driver West End street railway.
Benjamin Dowley, Boston.
Delano Sibley.
The most seriously injured are:
Fred Deeley, Boston, dislocated elbow, lacerated wound across the eyes and head, may die.
B. R. Sargent, compound fracture of skull, expected to die.
William Maybourn, compound fracture base of skull.
Paul Hackett, Boston, both legs broken, head cut.
Mrs. Horatio Bigelow, Boston, 80 years, injured back.
Miss May Estow, Waltham, fractured thigh, scalp wound.
W. Richardson, Newark, N. J., cut face and head.
S. D. Nicholson, Boston, secretary Masonic temple, head and face cut by by glass.
Samuel Morton, Detroit, actor, scalp wound five inches clear to the bone.
John Gill, Boston, bad injury to shoulder.

A dozen others were treated at the hospitals as well as at the scene of the accident by physicians in the crowd.
The explosion is thought to have resulted from the ignition of gas from a leaky main, either by a spark from a passing electric car or from an improperly insulated wire in the subway. An investigation of the cause will be held by the authorities.

WRECK ON THE B. & O.

Three Railroaders of Newark Killed Near Zanesville—Others Injured.

ZANESVILLE, March 5.—The Baltimore and Ohio wrecking train left the track about ten miles east of this city as it was on its way to clear a freight wreck. Three railroad men, all of Newark, O., were killed and several injured. The dead are:
Engineer Augustus Dutton.
Fireman John Toome.
Brakeman John Toome.
The injured, none fatally, are: Louis
H. Smart, A. Rinehart and D. Dubois.

GREECE READY TO FIGHT.

No Longer Any Doubt the Powers Will Be D-fled.

PARIS, March 5.—Le Jour publishes an interview which its correspondent at Athens had just had with King George of Greece. His majesty is quoted as saying that Greece will yield to no admonition and is ready for war with Turkey.

ATHENS, March 5.—There is no longer any doubt that the reply of Greece to the identical notes of the powers, delivered on Monday last and insisting on the Greek fleet and troops leaving Crete within six days from that date, will be in the negative. The reply of the Greek government will explain the reasons why Greece cannot recall her forces and why she considers the scheme for autonomy, proposed by the powers, to be inapplicable to Crete.

After a cabinet council M. Delyannis had a long conference with the king.
It is stated that the government has decided to call out the army reserves of 1890, 1899 and 1898, and that this step will be followed by a general mobilization of the Greek forces.

Meetings in favor of war with Turkey and resistance to the powers are of daily occurrence, especially in Thessaly.

Reports are published here that the German officers in the Turkish army have been appointed to command the troops on the Greek frontier.

FOUGHT IN A LAW OFFICE.

Chicago Real Estate Agent Stabbed by Another Agent.

CHICAGO, March 5.—John Lace, a real estate agent, has been severely stabbed by Louis Ullrich. Ullrich, who is also a real estate agent, was in the law office of Kerch & Kuchner, in the Ashland block, when Lace entered.

Without a word, the latter, it is said removed his coat and engaged in a fight with Ullrich. Suddenly Ullrich drew a knife and stabbed Lace on the right side of the face and also cut his wrist. Ullrich did not attempt to escape and was taken in charge by a policeman. Neither of the men would speak of their trouble, but it is said that a grudge of long standing was the cause.

A REVOLUTION IN SAMOA.

Natives Rebel In the Absence of Foreign Warships.

AUKLAND, New Zealand, March 5.— Advises received here from Samoa, dated Feb. 23, say that a strong body of natives under the leadership of Chief Tamasese, ex-king of Samoa, profiting by the absence of warships, are threatening King Malietoa at Apia, the capital. Fighting was expected, and the foreign consuls were powerless to quell the disturbance without warships.
King Malietoa was placed in power in 1889 by the United States, Great Britain and Germany, acting in concert.

SKIRTS.

We advertised our Ready-made Skirts Saturday, among them the $1.98 Special. Of course when we advertise a special line we expect some extra trade on it, but we didn't expect to sell as many Saturday as we did. It convinces us of this fact, that good things in Skirts are going to be good sellers this season. The $1.98 Special Skirt is without doubt the greatest drive we have ever shown, and we have completed arrangements for the season, so that at any time you can get the length and size you want in this Skirt at our store. We did not put it too strong when we advertised it as a regular $4.50 Skirt. Customers told us Saturday that it was as good as some stores were showing at $5.00. Our second invoice of these Skirts will be in today. Among them some 38 and 39 in. lengths. We were a little short on these lengths Saturday. We do not want you to get it into your head that this is the only Skirt we have in stock. Our $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00 lines are the strongest we have ever shown, and when you are thinking about Skirts just remember that we are showing a Black Brocade Silk Skirt at $8.00 that is a hummer.

Lace Curtains.

Our stock is all in. We are not going to quote prices, but will say this, that we have a stock of Curtains that range in price from 40c to $1.00 a pair that we want you to see before buying. If we can't convince you that we have the best values in town buy them of the other fellow.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The board of health meets this evening.

Policy is still being played in the city, but is kept very quiet.

A large number of cases of grip are reported by the doctors of the city.

The new residence of Norman Mc-Bane in West End will be completed in a few days.

The dance given by the Columbian club last night was well attended and most enjoyable.

The usual complaints about fast driving are beginning to be heard with the approach of spring.

A horse attacked with blind staggers attracted a large crowd on Washington street yesterday afternoon.

The electric plant at Young's will be completed before tomorrow evening. The store will be wired for 200 lights.

An entertainment will be given Monday evening in the West End chapel for the benefit of the Endeavor society.

Fishing is unusually good, and one crowd of four people estimate that they have caught over 350 fish during the week.

The dog poisoner disposed of two worthless canines in West End this week, and the owners of the animals are on the war path.

The ceiling of the Young Men's Christian association gymnasium is being kalsomined. The spacious hall will be thoroughly renovated.

Indications are that the gas well on the Lones farm, which was shot a few days since, will flow from three to five barrels of heavy oil a day.

The holiness people will Sunday evening hold a meeting in the Diamond if the weather permits. George Ward will discourse on "Divine Healing."

A street car jumped the track in Franklin street this morning. It required a great deal of work before the car could be removed from the mud.

Officer Whan last evening spent the greater part of his time in making the corner loafers move on. It is a move in the right direction and should be kept up.

Candidates for assessor are not coming forth with their usual wont, and it now looks as though it will not be people seeking the office, but the office seeking the people.

The ice plant will resume operations the middle of this month. The capacity of the plant can all be sold to one firm, but the company will sell the output in the city.

John Cain is being pushed by his friends as candidate for council in the Second ward. Mr. Cain is the well known contractor. He was formally announced today.

E. A. Sebring, of the East Palestine Pottery company, arrived in the city today from Cincinnati. Mr. Sebring states the outlook for summer trade gets brighter every day.

The membership committee of the Young Men's Christian association met last evening and transacted some important business. The membership contest has now reached 175.

Engineer George is busy today making estimates as to the cost of grading Minerva, Bradshaw, Oak and Riverview streets in Bradshaw addition. A report will be made to council as soon as the sub-bids are in.

People residing in Ravine street and Bradshaw avenue are complaining because the mud is fully four inches deep in their vicinity. They are talking of forming a club and buying skiffs if it gets much deeper.

The hotels all showed the presence of a large number of commercial men in the city yesterday and today. A salesman remarked that East Liverpool was becoming one of the best markets for groceries on the river.

The pupils of the high school are this afternoon considering the question, "Resolved, That April 1 be a holiday," while the A grammar room tried to decide whether "national disputes should be settled by arbitration."

"The weather department was very good to the new president," said a resident this morning. "The sky was clear all day yesterday, and within five minutes after midnight it was raining. Now, I think that was very good."

Mrs. J. T. Salmon, wife of the messenger of the Potters' National bank, is improving rapidly. For the first time in eight weeks Mrs. Salmon was downstairs yesterday. It will be remembered Mrs. Salmon suffered a painful operation at the West Penn hospital recently.

An indoor baseball team is now being organized in this city, and will play their first game next Thursday night. The ball, which has been ordered from New York, differs from a baseball to some degree, being larger and softer than an ordinary baseball. The ball is expected to arrive this week.

The Wellsville Union, in giving the side of the police in the controversy with Councilman Armstrong, says that the News Review misquoted that gentleman. It says this paper quoted Mr. Armstrong as saying that male and female prisoners were locked in the same cell. This, according to the Union is not so. Prisoners are simply put in the same room. What a wonderful difference!

Appraised Value of the Street Railway Is Low.

The street railway was appraised this morning, and will be sold from the door of the courthouse two months from tomorrow.

Sheriff Gill and Deputy Supplee, accompanied by William Cartwright, George Kauffman and Monroe Patterson, the appraisers, went to the power house early this morning, and looked over the plant. They then went to the East End, and later took a car for Wells-ville. The instructions said the line should be appraised as a whole, and would include the line, rights of way, real estate, franchise, contracts, leases, wires, poles, cars and all other things owned by the company. It was decided that the whole plant was worth $151,200. It cannot be sold for less than two-thirds of the appraisement. The road will be advertised for sale in Cleveland tomorrow, and in Wellsville and this place within the next month. This was provided for in the original mortgage.

Sheriff Gill and Deputy Supplee returned today to Lisbon.

TAILOR MADE SUITS.

New Department Introduced by Joseph Bros.

These popular clothiers and gents' fur-nishers have determined, under strong pressure brought upon them by their patrons, to add a custom made department to their already superb establishment. It will be no mere makeshift, but will be under the supervision and control of those who will fill the bill to perfection, and enable Joseph Bros. to guarantee, in any and every particular, the very best of material, first-class workmanship and perfect fitting garments, essential features, very much in demand at the hands of customers. To those who know our townsmen best, it will be an assured fact that this new department will be made a success. Misrepresentation is not allowed, under any circumstances, in any of the departments, and this same rule will hold good in the new department. Prices will be very reasonable, according to the goods demanded by the patron, and will range from $12 to $40 per suit. The goods now on hand are beautiful, and you will do well to pay Joseph Bros. a visit, examine the handsome suitings, leave your orders and be made happy with garments which cannot be excelled, in material, style, finish and workmanship, by any establishment in this city or elsewhere. Joseph Bros. will extend to you most cordial greeting, and will be pleased to take and fill your orders. Absolute satisfaction guaranteed. Test the tailor made suits.

GRAND ILLUMINATION.

The Capital City's Brilliant Appearance on Inauguration Night.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The many glories of inauguration day were eclipsed by the brilliancy of the various night displays. The city blazed with light. All the parks and public grounds were illuminated. The whole line of march of the day was ablaze with light.
Private illuminations joined each other from end to end of the avenue.
The immense public buildings seemed in flames. At various points high over them against the blackness of the sky great flags, illuminated by searchlights, waved clear and bright, as if the participants in this national festival.
This effect was magical and moved the thousands below to an enthusiasm which even the marvellous scenes of the day had not kindled.

As the general illumination faded the search lights revealed the public buildings and the Washington monument.

Chicago Brokers Cheered When McKiney Was Sworn In.

CHICAGO, March 5.—When the clock at the board of trade showed 12 o'clock eastern time inauguration day business was temporarily suspended, and for fully five minutes the atmosphere of the pit, brokers' offices and wild yells cheer on cheer filled the walls of the big building at the minute when Major McKinley of Canton became President McKinley of the United States.

There was a similar scene at the Stock Exchange. When the bell rang for 12 o'clock some one began to sing, "Grover, Grover he's bowled over." Then everybody gave three hearty cheers for the new president.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 5.—Hon.
C. W. Atkinson, Republican, has taken the oath of office on the front steps of the state capitol as governor of West Virginia and the Democratic official retired. The oath of the office was administered by Judge McWhorter, the only Republican of the supreme court, and elected at the same time. The inaugural address was lengthy and outlined the policy which will be a progressive one.

This is the first time for 25 years that the Republicans have control of the state.

GRAND ILLUMINATION.

The Capital City's Brilliant Appearance on Inauguration Night.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The many glories of inauguration day were eclipsed by the brilliancy of the various night displays. The city blazed with light. All the parks and public grounds were illuminated. The whole line of march of the day was ablaze with light. Private illuminations joined each other from end to end of the avenue. The immense public buildings seemed in flames. At various points high over them against the blackness of the sky great flags, illuminated by searchlights, waved clear and bright, as if the spirits of the upper air were active participants in this national festival. This effect was magical and moved the thousands below to an enthusiasm which even the marvellous scenes of the day had not kindled.

As the general illumination faded the searchlights revealed the public buildings and the Washington monument.

CELEBRATED THE INAUGURATION.

Chicago Brokers Cheered When McKinley Was Sworn In.

CHICAGO, March 5.—When the clock at the board of trade showed 12 o'clock eastern time inauguration day business was temporarily suspended, and for fully five minutes the atmosphere of the pit, brokers' offices and corridors was full of hats, canes and wild yells. Cheers on cheer filled the walls of the big building at the minute when Major McKinley of Canton became President McKinley of the United States.

There was a similar scene at the Stock Exchange. When the bell rang for 12 o'clock some one began to sing. "Glover, Grover he's bowled over." Then everybody gave three hearty cheers for the new president.

ATKINSON NOW GOVERNOR.

First Republican Executive of West Virginia for 25 Years.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 5.—Hon. C. W. Atkinson, Republican, has taken the oath of office as governor of West Virginia and the Democratic official retired. The oath of the office was administered by Judge McWhorter, the only Republican of the supreme court, and elected at the same time. The inaugural address was lengthy and outlined the policy which will be a progressive one.

This is the first time for 25 years that the Republicans have control of the state.
